Preamble:

GSLIS desires to resolve matters of dispute within the school. The purpose of the Internal Procedure for Resolution of disputes is to provide members of the faculty with a framework for collegial resolution of such disputes.
These procedures do not abrogate the right of any individual to bring matters of concern either to the full faculty or appropriate campus-wide committees (e.g., Faculty Advisory Committee, Professional Advisory Committee, or Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Office).

Procedure:

Any member of the faculty may present a question, suggestion, or grievance about any school-related issue affecting that individual. Under normal circumstances, it would be expected that the issue will have been discussed directly by all parties concerned before being brought to the executive committee. If no satisfactory resolution is reached, the faculty member may bring a formal grievance before the executive committee. If the grievant is a member of the executive committee, the other members of the committee will determine a replacement for purposes of hearing the grievance. The grievance should be in writing and addressed to the vice-chair of the committee. Within 60 days of receipt of such a grievance, the committee will meet in conference with the grievant(s) and other parties involved and will review appropriate documentation. The committee will, within the next 30 days, deliver a written recommendation to the grievant(s) and administrator. The response of the administrator to any findings will be communicated within 30 days to the grievant(s) and to the executive committee. [Extension of time limits can be negotiated with agreement of both parties.]

g. Act on behalf as interim in the name of the Faculty in an emergency situation, such action to be reported to the Faculty at the next regular meeting.

If this nomination results in a greater number of nominees than positions on the committee, a vote by paper ballot will be held. Those receiving the greater number of votes shall be elected to the committee. In case of ties, the current Executive Committee will vote to break the tie. The Dean shall convey to each committee any charges given the committee by the Faculty. The chairperson of the committee is responsible for calling the first meeting.
